RS. 5.16 CRORE DISBURSED UNDER DIFFERENT WELFARE SCHEMES

Shri Kuldeep Khoda IPS the Director General of Police held a meeting on June 26, 2010 to review the various welfare schemes and its implementation for the serving Jawans, their families and retired police personnel of Jammu and Kashmir Police Organization.

He said that Jammu and Kashmir Police Organization has launched several schemes for the welfare of its Jawans, their families and retired personnel. He said that during past six months from January 2010 till date Rs. 5.16 crore have been paid to benefit families of deceased police personnel out of Special Contributory Police Welfare Fund (SCPWF).

He emphasized to enhance various welfare measures for the families of police personnel and stressed upon the officers for quick disbursement of welfare relief to the families of the police personnel who laid down their precious lives while performing their professional duties. He said several schemes have been launched in this regard, adding that Special Contributory Police Welfare Fund is under implementation to provide succor to the families of personnel who die in-service irrespective of the cause of death. The meeting discussed in detail the possibilities of enhancing the special welfare relief fund from present slab of Rs. 6 lakh and other welfare measures to benefit the serving and retired police personnel. The meeting discussed in detail the measures to be taken to generate more resources for the purpose. It was decided that the decision to this effect would be taken by the Central Police Welfare Fund Committee in its next meeting which is being convened shortly. The DGP stressed upon the officers to chalk out the modalities to re-fix relief structures for the Next of Kins (NOKs) of martyrs, serving Jawans, their families and retired personnel.

Giving the details, the DGP said that since January, 2010 more than Rs. 4.44 crore have been disbursed as special relief to the NOKs of deceased police personnel. Likewise during the period Rs. 38 lakh have been disbursed to the NOKs of police martyrs as ex-gratia relief. He disclosed that more than Rs. 2 lakh have been paid as ex-gratia to the serving police personnel who have received injuries while performing their duties.

He further said that 30 retired police personnel have been benefited by disbursing relief to them during the period adding that families of martyrs get a relief package of Rs. 13.50 lakh while as those who die in harness, because of accidents or natural causes, are given Rs. 8.50 lakh which includes Rs. 6 lakh from Special Contributory Police Welfare Fund. In addition Rs. 2.50 lakh are paid as insurance claim. However, the families of martyrs get additional Rs. 5 lakh as ex-gratia relief. The DGP said that this special relief package has been possible because of the initiation of SCPWF which was started way back in 1983. Since this fund is exclusively generated by monthly contribution from police ranks with no supplementation from government, the relief to the families of such personnel was enhanced from time to time with corresponding increase in monthly contribution.

The DGP highlighted the significance of contributory fund raised in the police organization to provide relief to the next of kins of deceased police personnel, adding that there was need to further promote this spirit for the overall welfare of force.
