TRAINING PROGRAMME ON ATTITUDINAL CHANGE

A 15-days training programme was held in district police lines Jammu in the first fortnight of September, 2000. The theme of the training programme was "Behavioural and Attitudinal Change in Police Personnel – Essence of Model Police Stations".

Constable Abdul Gafoor No. 1962/J of district Jammu, who spoke at the concluding function, enthralled the participants by his speech. To bring about behavioural and attitudinal change in the policeman, the ideas given out by him included :

- A policeman should do all the good he can; to all the persons he can; by all the means he can; at all the times he can; in all the ways he can; in all the spheres he can; under all the circumstances he can and so long as he can.
- A policeman must bear in his mind that he is a public servant and not the master.
- A policeman should always be sympathetic, dedicated, devoted, firm but humane in his approach and ready to help the needy.

- A policeman should have through grasping and knowledge about the law and procedure to implement the same.-
